Edmonton Soldiers Disappointed When Italians Won't Fight

By HAROLD V. BOYLE

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN SOUTHERN SICILY, July 14.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The most unhappy soldiers in Sicily are not the defeated Axis troops but the thousands of victorious Canadians, disappointed because they are unable to force the fleeing enemy to stand and fight them.

Hill Air Bases

Mediterranean Aerial Fleets Pound at Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, July 17.—Allied Mediterranean aerial fleets have heavily attacked four Axis bases on the Italian mainland after driving the dwindling Axis air forces from virtually all of their Sicilian airfields. It was announced today.

The Vibo-Valentia and Reggio Calabria airfields on the north-west coast of Italy, Crotone on the south coast, and Bari on the south-east coast were pounded in day and night raids by two- and four-engine bombers.

Northwest African and Middle-Eastern commands.

An Italian communiqué broadcast by the Rome radio reported raids on Naples, Italian west coast port, and Messina in northeastern Sicily as well as on Bari and Reggio.

Canadians Make Deepest Thrust Of All Forces

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, July 17.—(AP)—

Troops of the Canadian 1st Division, which has made the greatest penetration into the interior of Sicily of any of the Allied forces, have taken Calligaris and Grammichele. It was announced today.

These were two of four important towns announced by today's Allied communiqué as taken on the island. The others were Scordia and Lentini, occupied by the British 8th Army, moving toward Catania on the east coast.

MAKING RAPID MARCH

Capture of the two towns by Maj. Gen. Guy Simmonds' Canadian troops had the main line of cross-land communication to a highway 30 miles north of Calligaris.

The Canadian troops made a rapid march to occupy Calligaris, 28 miles due west of Lentini, without any fighting at all, and they continued on.

Catania Situation Gets More Serious Hourly for Enemy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, July 17.—(AP)—

The situation in eastern Sicily was reported as front line dispatches tonight to be growing more critical by the hour.

By VIRGIL FINKLEY

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, July 17.—

In a smashing ten-mile advance which carried the Eighth Army onto the Catania plains, Canadian troops captured the towns of Calligaris and Grammichele, it was announced today. British troops stormed and captured Lentini, chief enemy position barring the road to the port of Catania, and also Scordia.

An Algiers radio broadcast reported the 8th Army's right flank less than six miles from Catania. The enemy was striving to stabilize defenses on the natural lines provided by river banks crossing the Catania plain.

Although the Catania plain, which was opened to the Allies after a hard battle in which Lentini was seized, generally was easier terrain, the Gornalunga, Difetti and Simeto rivers cut through the plain to points within 10 miles of Catania port. The enemy has been making strong stands in front of these rivers in an effort to slow up the British army which Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery sent northward from Augusta sector.

Cut Communications Network

The Allied advances, however, cut deeply into the entire network of railroad and highway communications on the Axis must depend in the eastern part of Sicily, guarding the route to Messina and the toe of the Italian boot.

(An Exchange Telegraph report said that the Allies were threatening the Axis network of airfields around Geraci, 15 miles west of Catania, indicating that the British and the Canadians in the Milazzo sector were pressing across the plain at a point deep inland as well as along the coast road.)

The invasion army now occupied one-fifth of Sicily's 10,000 square miles.

Captured Town Important Point

Montgomery's troops pushed forward after a bloody battle with German and Italian troops, in which the enemy threw in 60-ton tanks in a futile effort to stem the Anglo-Canadian drive toward the big east coast port of Catania.

Calligaris, which the Canadians overran in a dashing assault, lies some 25 miles west of Lentini and controls a network of five roads. One of these winds northwestward to the big enemy concentration point of Callanissetta, already menaced from the southwest.

Violent fighting was reported within 12 miles of Catania as the Eighth Army battled forward. All four towns taken are communication centers.

The new advances, generally eliminating two enemy-held airfields and strengthening the Allied line from Lentini due west to Canicattì, also overran Scordia, now only miles west of Lentini, and Grammichele, eight miles east of Calligaris.

The Canadians, "said to be coming from the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower while air communications had shattered,

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

When it's hot, babies get thirsty. What they need is babies' water, not warm. For that is the reason they get hot, because that is the reason they get hot, because that is the reason they get hot.

1st Anniversary Will Be Feted At Vermilion

It won't be an all-night show when the first anniversary of the opening of No. 2 Canadian Women's Army Corps Basic Training Centre will be celebrated Saturday.

An invitation has been extended to Brig. P. H. W. Harvey, C.M.G., District officer commanding, M.D. 1, to officiate at the ceremonies and the girls will be expected to meet at the army stationed at Vermilion Camp at the military base.

The spacious grounds and gardens should be at their best for the occasion but if the weather should be difficult and spoil the atmosphere for the outdoor part, there is the impressive new drill hall which has recently been completed with a sparkling green lounge and ball room and a ball room for the evening part of the day.

MAY WATCH SPORTS

There will be an opportunity to watch sports events in the afternoon. These will include various games and stunts and games and an exciting football game between the M.D.s, and teams picked from the ten platoons of the "B" companies. Loud cheering or friends to building will be expected from the audience.

Persons who wish to attend the ceremony should be at the camp by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday. The girls will be in uniform and will be expected to meet at the army stationed at Vermilion Camp at the military base.

British News Reel To Show in Canada

The first master copies of a new British news reel, "The British News Reel," will be shown in Canada. The reel is a collection of news stories from the United Kingdom and is expected to be shown in many theaters across the country.

Canadian Naval War Exhibition

Starts Monday at 9:30 a.m. Official Opening and Parade Monday Evening at 7:45!

This magnificent exhibition is touring Canada—that Canadians may see at first hand the day to day lives of our boys in the Royal Canadian Navy. In addition to action photographs taken at sea, murals of ship life, detailed models of Tribal Class Destroyer, Corvette and M.T. boat, the actual weapons used to combat the enemy—depth charges, torpedoes, ack ack guns are all on view. A fascinating instructive show that every Canadian will wish to see—that will further increase the pride we all feel in our Men of the Sea.

Monday is "Navy Night"—A Special Invitation is extended to all Naval Personnel.

Open Every Day This Week from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Evenings from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. All Proceeds Go to the Navy League of Canada for work Among Men of the Sea.
